PROFESSIONAL LEARNING SERIES

OVERVIEW

Revolve Learning's Professional Learning Series (PLS) — for school leaders, student support staff and educators — starts with building knowledge about the brain, science of learning and development, and the impact of stress and trauma. The goal is to equip and empower leaders and educators with strategies, skills, mindsets, and practices to build effective school and classroom structures that support healthy student development and academic achievement for children. These courses are designed to be delivered within an online format. For more information on the content covered in each session see our course catalog. All content is available in a flexible online format. Contact us for live in-person training options.
