WORD: LEGACY /'LEGƏSI/

Putting a stamp on the future, and making a contribution to future generations. People want to leave a legacy because they want to feel that their life mattered. Let's reflect on what this means to you, then prepare to have this conversation with the young people we love.

YOUR UNDERSTANDING AND VISION OF THE WORD | LEGACY

Legacy is not what is left tomorrow when you are gone. It's what you give, create, impact, and contribute today while you are here...that then happens to live on."

-RASHEED OGUNLARU

Take a moment to think about your responses to the following questions. This is your opportunity to see if what you believe is taking hold with the young people in which you have interactions.

- What do you value most?
- What are you most proud of?
- What impact are you working to make on the world?
- What do you consider to be your legacy?
- What do you think others would say is your legacy?
- What, if anything, is preventing you from living the dream you have for your life?

QUESTIONS AND CONVERSATIONS STARTERS THAT PROMPT CONNECTIONS

The most important part of building meaningful relationships is the ability to trust each other through active listening and understanding. When we discuss these questions with those that are younger or not yet familiar with the concepts we must approach it with emotional constancy as the adult that has done the work to be introspective first. We recommend starting up top with the reflection questions and bringing those sentiments with you to the conversation. This is deep but will be an eye-opening experience for all that are committed to growing together. Notice if there is alignment with what you reflected on and what they said.

- What do you believe makes me the most proud?
- What do you think I value most in this life?
- Why do you think I work?
- What impact do you want to leave on the world?
- How can I help you make that dream a reality?
